

TechSoup Europe in Brief

What is TechSoup?

TechSoup is a global social enterprise that equips changemakers with transformative technology solutions and skills they need to improve lives globally and locally.

What is TechSoup's mission?

TechSoup's mission is to build a dynamic bridge that enables design and implementation of technology solutions for a more equitable planet.

What is TechSoup Europe?

The TechSoup Europe Network is part of the TechSoup Global Network. The TechSoup Europe Network is a partnership of 24 civil society capacity building organisations across 48 countries in Europe (including all 28 EU member states).

In Europe we serve a community of over 406,000 civil society organisations in the region equipping them with transformative technology products, knowledge, and services.

Through collaboration and partnership, we make technology social.

Who works with TechSoup?

At TechSoup, we rely on the generosity of our partners to build a technology product philanthropy service that directly serves nonprofits, libraries, and foundations around the world.

We also connect a diverse group of collaborators, such as hackers, designers, government, local authority officials, and social activists. Together we partner to generate innovative solutions to social challenges.

What is our impact?

TechSoup has connected over 900,000 nonprofits with the tools and philanthropic services from over 90 corporate and foundation partners all over the world, amounting to more than $9 billion USD in distributed technology products and services.

TechSoup Europe's Community Program results:

- 6 civic tech challenges in the CEE region
- 200 ideas crowdsourced for social applications
- 15 civictech products
- 22,000 youth reached during EU Code Week
- 10,000 activists convened

Who leads TechSoup Europe?
